

FARMERS DEBATE A MOTION URGING PROVINCIAL BANK

Calgary, Jan. 29.—A resolution providing for the establishment under the auspices of the Alberta government of a banking institution with a federal charter, was debated by the United Farmers of Alberta in their convention this morning.

"Resolved," said the resolution, "that the Alberta government cause to be secured a bank charter, in accordance with the federal bank act. Head office would be in Alberta. The government would retain and purchase capital stock between 55 and 99 per cent, and the balance would be sold to residents of districts where branches would be located. Administration would be by a commission of five. The bank, it was resolved, "to do a general banking business and present to take full advantage of the right to issue paper currency under the Federal Bank Act."

John Eger, of Lake Thelma, proposing the resolution, declared the establishment of a bank under democratic control would be a blow at plutocracy. "We are, or should be," he said, "in absolute control of the government at Edmonton, and they were able to bring pressure to bear on the federal government through their elected members."

If a bank is established under this plan, said G. Berington, the legislator of Alberta would have the right to appoint and dismiss the board of directors. "We would have within the province," he said, "the means of issuing money, of bringing it into existence. We would have broken the complete monopoly."

For All Diseases of The Blood RHEUMATISM'S Greatest Enemy

Another Man Who Praises Verno
I was suffering with Lumbago, and was so bad that I could not work at all. One of the men I had working for me recommended Verno. He had some with him and I started using it and next day I was better. When that was gone I sent for six more and when I had taken anything that gave me the lumbago was completely gone and I could go to any kind of work as freely as I ever did. I have given taken anything that gave me the same relief and I will gladly recommend it to any person.

Yours truly
N. M. Bailey, Telford.

A VISIT TO A GREAT POISON GAS FACTORY

(By H. W. Newman, in the Marches on Guard)

I recently accepted a kind invitation to visit America's poison gas factory at Edgewood, half an hour by train from Washington, before the dawn. I arrived with a crowd of workmen, clerks, and well dressed girls, all engaged in the manufacture of poison, but living at Ballimore, for Edgewood is hardly a village, except for the works, all erected during the war. There is an enclosure of 10,000 acres for this purpose upon a promontory on Chesapeake Bay, having its own docks for lighters.

The Chemical Warfare Corps is a special branch of the army, like artillery, consisting of about 2,000 men, 101 officers and 1,200 civilians employed, besides 100 trained chemists who receive purchase money for all inventions, but the government reserves the right to purchase. The War Office pays for the establishment $1,200,000, the army grant, which is about $1,000,000. The works, brought to the highest perfection just before the armistice, could then produce 200 tons of poison gas daily. They are now working against no direct pressure, but are maintained in complete readiness, with a permanent staff of machines in working order. The results are continually inspected and tested separately.

Staffs for defence and offence are continually working against one another, every advance in poison being made, if possible, by protective methods, such as new devices in masks to prevent death by suffocation, or impervious overalls to prevent being burned. Upon the French front our masks could be put on in six seconds, here the mask can be put on in three, by one single movement. The French use the notable devices for preventing gas masks from being pulled off by gas goggles, which are also constructed as to break but never splinter. Much improvement has been made in the breathing tube and cylinders. There are two hermetically sealed chambers within men's helmets to enter without extra payment to test the power of the gases, and in which they are sealed, and a window will tell them on feeling the effect of gas in faintness or sickness.

Chlorine made from common table salt is the basis of all gases except, perhaps, Lewisite. The salt is dissolved in enormous vats from foundries. Many kinds of gases are manufactured. The best for suffocation is phosgene. Mustard gas burns off the flesh as well and penetrates any clothing. It was found during the war, Chlorine produces intense vomiting, disabling the victim until the enemy arrives to kill. Lachrymatory gas causes an immense flow of tears. I found out upon entering the factory, in spite of a sweet smell, but the effect wears off, if the sufferer survives a bayonet charge.

Lewisite is a burning gas, like the mustard gas, but far more powerful. It was invented by Newlands at the Catholic university at Washington, and perfected by Professor Lee Lewis of the Northwestern University. It is composed of acetylene with a solution of trichloride. It is believed to penetrate any mask and pass through the flesh and down the lungs burning the victim inside and out. It is regarded as the main organ of security in future war, and was being produced at the rate of ten tons daily at the time of the armistice. It spreads slowly unlike phosgene, which on that account is more favored in ordinary bombing from the air, for wind rapidly carries phosgene far and wide suffocating all. But Lewisite could be sprayed upon cities from a hose by aircraft. It has an excellent effect on burning clothes, skin and flesh of all citizens and soldiers indifferently. It is difficult to estimate the area which could be affected, but if skillfully used would certainly kill a big population with great rapidity. Bombs are now being made up to a weight of 4,000 pounds, each carrying one ton of the highest explosive T.N.T., or of similar amount, less in weight of suffocating or burning gas. Large aircraft, each carrying several bombs or spraying machines, could destroy great cities if unopposed, and gradually reduce the whole human population thus rendering with control annexed.

There is a most interesting museum upon the premises illustrating the growth of various destructive chemical processes and attempts to counteract them. The whole factory proves human ingenuity for slaughter and the horror of the war. All attempts to check the employment of improved instruments of destruction have hitherto been vain, as was proved at Hagen, and in our protest against the use of gas in the late war. It is useless to forbid inventions. The only way is to exterminate war. Perhaps this object may be furthered by increasing the terror for stay-at-homes, men and women who will no longer feed their sons only, but themselves. It was once hoped that this poison might be used against the gopher (a burrowing American rodent, ground squirrels on prairies, or Australian rabbits) but it was found that the prairie was killed together with the animals, and the method was too expensive for exterminating any animal. In the case, less was used against man. A few whiffs, however, at the entrance of holes are beneficial.

CAMROSE CURLERS BEAT SEDGEWICK FOR SILVER TROPHY

Segeiwick, Jan. 28.—The silver challenge cup won by two rivals of Segeiwick players on January 10th was again won by an aggregation of players from Camrose on Monday evening, the silverware having found a resting place in Segeiwick for just one week. It was evident that the Camrose players meant business when they came down Monday night, as both sides were strong, but they were given a hard battle. Both games were fought on a level, and each rink from Camrose won by the narrow margin of 12 to 11, the combined scores being 24-22. The players from Camrose were Kallip, Peterson, Ayres, Douglas, (skip), Hartman, Nick, Scott, Hartman (skip); while Segeiwick was represented by Alton, Richardson, Ogilvie, Young (skip), Holten, Battley, Haynes, Fairbairn (skip). The games were played after the arrival of the eleven o'clock passenger from Camrose and lasted until 2:30, after which the victors were entertained by the Segeiwick curlers.

MOTHER'S VACATION

Allice Hiles was feeling very ill. She sat down for a few minutes to rest and collect her thoughts. Her sides she was waiting for the postman. He was coming down the street and he might have a letter from her sister. The who was married and lived in Oregon—too far to see each other often, so they kept up a continuous flow of correspondence.

From her chair Allice could look right through her house, as she would have expressed it. It was a small house and woefully shabby. Allice's rugs were in that state of dirty grays which betrays the absence of the sun. The furniture was little better than the rugs. She was clever with a screwdriver and glue pot, but there is a point where these first aids to a injured become poisonous. The curtain too—She sighed heavily.

She had always meant to have things "fixed up" but there was never quite enough money for urgent, except the moment when the money was obliged to wait. Now that Irene was 16 and Franklin 14 and both growing out of their clothes every minute, the money went even faster than it used to. She had gained, too, in income when it came to company. Graydon, her kindly, mild husband, and that attitude with the elusive American dollar was really wonderful. She could not get a steady dose of cost to nothing, like a dress or trim, but they were able to hold their heads up with the host. Why, she had arisen at 5 this morning that she might get the change ready for their outing. Irene had gone with Judge Chester's daughter to the Chester cottage at the Thousand Islands, and Franklin had gone with the Burditts to the Perry Lake. For Burditts was particularly fond of Franklin. The night before, Graydon, her splendid old home man, had gone on a fishing trip; he would be back at night. She hoped that the change would do him good. In the meantime she did wish that she was not so utterly tired out, where everything fretted her and where she carried her every eye into her dreams at night.

The postman put something into the box and she went to get it. It was a letter from Helen. Helen always had something bright to say. She had married well and took life easily. This was a short letter. Something dropped out of it, but Allice did not notice it. She went into what Helen had written. "I could see from the way you wrote, Allice, that you were run down and blue. You need a vacation. I'd have you come out here, but we're going on a vacation ourselves down to the coast. And, anyway, perhaps you'd enjoy being nearer home. I'm sending you a post office order for a hundred dollars, so you can take a vacation to your heart's content."

A hundred dollars! That was what Allice had been waiting for, and for her vacation! Allice shivered and trembled a little. Then she kissed the letter where her sister had written "Helen" in closing. Now she could have a vacation, too. Why, only yesterday, Mrs. Harrison was urging her to go to the seashore for a few days. She would go now. She would have to go to the seashore with a pair of shoes and some other little things. Then she would be quite rested. There would be money enough for a whole week at Beach. She loved the ocean, and it wouldn't be as if Graydon and the children hadn't their fun. They would be wild for her to go, she knew. And she would be sure to come back happy.

The trouble was that she would be coming back to just what she had left. "I wish there that I'd spent the money some other way," she thought. "Well, Allice, Helen and I think her away, and I'll think it over." She sat down to write and she was amazed to find these words flowing from her pen: "Maybe you won't approve of the kind of vacation I'm going to take with your beautiful gift, but it's going to be a home vacation. I'll try to explain."

She explained fully and dutifully she changed to her street dress and went to mail the letter and to cash her order. The postoffice was next door to the largest store in the town. It was the best in there except the two hours. The noon whistle was blowing when she came out. A small

SKIING COSTUME IS BARRED FROM THE OTTAWA CHURCHES

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—In future Ottawa women will not be permitted to attend early morning church parades in ski costumes or "ski skirts." They will have to attend divine services "properly clothed" and return home to change into athletic costumes before going to a joyride in the snow-covered playgrounds of Ottawa.

This is the edict set out in warm tones by Rev. Father O'Gorman, M.C., in the Sacred Sacrament church here this morning. Moreover, Father O'Gorman declared that, in the event of any young woman ignoring the warning it would be his duty to put her out. The costume objected to is the usual skiing breeches, jersey and jacket. A man, Father O'Gorman emphasized, would not attend church in football uniform or rowing tux, and he inferred that the same respect for the church should be demanded from the women.

Father O'Gorman won his military cross as a chaplain to the Canadian forces in the late war.

BUY AT HOME

From Jinks the (tinnam), honest man, I bought my superlative sedan. I might have bought a car by mail, and got good value for my mail; but we have lived next door for years, and we have mingled smiles and tears; when Jinks would grin a selection, I turned the grinstone cheerily and when my car is sick he's there to take the edge off my despair. And then, when I wished a noble one to advertise the new globe, he came and offered me the chance, and paid five kopecks in advance. We stand together in our town; we do not turn like other towns. Now I might go to some big place and have a barber shave my face, and get some frills I do not know in Punktown, when my whiskers grow. Our barber shaves me with a razor, and now that the blood he'll draw; but he's a good and thrifty lad and helps to boost our little rag; he's built himself a handsome shack with roses climbing up the back; at night he reads the books and reads and local workmen drive the nails. And when he wants a string song, to help his growing trade along, he comes to me, the home grown bard, and says, "hot stuff by the yard, nor does he haggle at the price—he's handed me a double tune. We stand together for the town, and no one turns the neighbor down; thus Punktown grows, thus she expands, and she'll be famed in many lands.—Walt Mason.

of something cooking at the cafe across the street caught her nostrils. She went across the street, entered the cafe, and sat down.

The regular luncheon consisted of creole chicken and strawberry ice cream, with various other things in between. Left to herself at home, Allice would have eaten nothing; as she was made a hearty meal. When she came out she met Mrs. Williams. "How, how well you look!" Mrs. Williams said. "The other day I thought you were looking awfully faded. Had a vacation or what?" "I'm having one," Allice laughed. "I am on my way to get a new hat to match a dress I've bought." Miss Skinner rarely saw Allice for she usually got her hair at a cheaper place and trimmed them herself. She didn't have many, either. Now she chose a shiny bit of headgear in the shape of an orchid spray, which did wonders toward brightening her eyes and freshening her cheeks. The hat she had matched the background of the voile she had bought. Miss Skinner told her how to make the voile, even lent her a charming little design—"quite exclusive." Exclusiveness was Miss Skinner's long point.

Allice had a lovely time all afternoon making her voile. She hadn't had such a pretty dress in a long time. Graydon came home at dark with some fine fish. "I'll cook it for you, Allice, but I'm approving, I look as if you'd been having a good time," he said. "I've played all day," and Allice told him about her vacation gift. "You take that and get you a good vacation," said Graydon. Allice laughed. "I'm going to," she said.

Graydon began to have suspicions of the vacation when he came home one day and found the living room in papered. "See here, now," he said "that's no way to spend your money." But Allice persisted. The paper was set. She loved the ocean, and it rung added to the effect and a couple of new chairs and curtains did the rest. So many new things caused a great shifting about and the whole house seemed to be in a state of commotion. "I can't see the same place at all," her husband said. "But I don't see where your vacation is coming in." "Why, this is my vacation," replied Allice. "You're a wonderful woman," he said "but you're going to have a real vacation like the same. How about your end up at Perry Lake? The Frasers are going up in their car, and they've asked us to go. We can see the boy I was pretty sure you'd consent, so I promised for us both. I'm fishing at Perry Lake, and you can wear your new dress."

Allice clapped her hands, just as Irene did when she was happiest. "That's all right. That will be just the thing to make my vacation complete!"

ANOTHER DROP IN PRICE OF BUTTER. LOWEST IN YEARS

Finest creamery butter will be on sale today in one pound cartons for 40 cents. This is not a harbinger of spring; the cut of five cents has been forced on the trade by heavy importations of excellent butter from New Zealand and Argentina at the Pacific coast. Nevertheless the drop of 5 cents per pound in five days, almost 10 per cent in a month, is the very welcome to all housewives. To day, No. 1 creamery will retail at 40 cents, and No. 2 at 35 cents per lb. This is the lowest price for butter that has been received at this season for many years, and cheaper butter is assured later when the milk flow has been increased with the coming of spring—Alberta.

WINNIPEG WOMAN HAD LOST HEART

TREATMENTS AND MEDICINES
SEEMED TO DO MRS. GRASER
NO GOOD — HEALTH IS RESTORED

"I have taken seven bottles of Tanalac and am now feeling like a new woman," said Mrs. G. Graser, 394 Kennedy street, Winnipeg, Man. "Three years ago my stomach got out of order and troubled me ever since. I was informed that I had a chronic case of indigestion, and was treated for that, but kept getting worse. I reached the point where I had no appetite and simply refused to eat on account of the misery I suffered afterwards. There was a lump-like feeling in the pit of my stomach and often I became so nauseated I could scarcely retain anything. My left side hurt me so I couldn't lie on it and it was a struggle for me to breathe. I simply felt that I was going to smother. I also suffered with sick headache just about all the time and was so nervous and restless I hardly slept a wink. I had just about reached the point where I thought I was never going to get any better when I read about Tanalac and decided to give it a trial. I did not see much improvement until I had finished my third bottle, but after that I got well and began enjoying the best of health and am glad to add my voice to all the others who are praising Tanalac."

Tanalac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

PALPITATION OF THE HEART

WOULD HAVE TO QUIT WORK

Mr. Frank Lutes, 71 Terrace Hill St., Trinidad, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it will shake me a lot. The doctor said it would stop on me sometime. I did not eat tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound and I would break out in a perspiration, and so I would have to lie at night and wait until my work was in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going. HYPNOTISM (2)

BY WILL HOLMES
If the misconceptions and fear of hypnosis which arise as a result of the travelling charlatan who uses it for exhibition purposes could be removed and it were placed on a scientific plane until benefits would likely result. In fact, hypnosis is frequently used unconsciously. The man who runs from an angry dog is almost sure of a dangerous laceration of the flesh with poisonous teeth, but if instead of running he resolutely and fearlessly engages the dog's eyes, the dog, terror-stricken, will become docile. By a slight pressure on the neck region a wildly excited female will become suddenly motionless. If any excited crowd is suddenly with a firm grip and laid upon its back, after a trifle attempt to escape it becomes motionless. This is also true of frogs, guinea pigs, rabbits, lizards, crabs and numerous other animals.

In the hospital ward the good sister of mercy holds the gaze of the patient fixed on the upturned ceiling, while positively inducing a sound sleep. The mother rocks the cradle and hushes in monotone the air that lullabies her child will induce sleep in the restless child. The Christian Science practitioner quietly yet persistently repeats "you are well!" thus soothing the patient and leaving the positive suggestion of health in the subconsciousness where it is bound to take effect.

"Wordsworth is the saint." "To Sleep" describes the approved method of inducing sleep which, however, in his proved false.

"A flock of sheep that leisurely pass by one after one." The sound of rain and bees.

Murmuring; the fall of rivers, winds and seas.
Smooth fields; white sheets of water and pure air.
I have thought of them all by turns, yet do I sleepless!

So also the taciturn surgeon or dentist about to induce a patient to undergo great nervousness in the patient, keeps up an incessant babble of talk about politics, the weather, the races, or anything remote from the subject of immediate interest.

That more definite use of this power might be made is evident if we were to master its possibilities. If a case of hysteria is observed it will be noticed that the first evidences are distinctly mental. There is taking place a forgetting of the surroundings; the mind is focusing probably on some object of fear, and the patient is helpless. The subconsciousness gets control or gets out of control so that the nervous system is racked. Laughing and crying take place in the helpless victim. Their is a state very much akin to hypnosis. It is a dissociation or splitting of the personality. The problem is to call back the complete consciousness and for this a glass of cold water dashed in the face is sometimes used effectively. To the patient subject to hysteria a psychic re-education is desirable which can best be accomplished by a series of hypnotic sessions. It is possible and indeed probable that the cases of "demon possession" common in the far east are kindred nervous diseases to hysteria. If so the Minister's treatment was quite scientific, by a positive command he banished the dissociation of personality and the subject became "clothed and in his right mind."

There are many mental disorders which we might call "obsessions" which produce demoralizing results. Exaggerated states of misery arise from a false self analysis, a slight pain becomes a severe organic disease, palpitation is diagnosed as heart failure, gastric symptoms as chronic stomach trouble, sex aberrations, which make place health, give sexual capability, but which results in violence, sexual perversions and immoral mania. Craving for alcohol, narcotics, or for drugs, are often the result of obsessions.

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES MAY BE ERADICATED BY

Miss Mary E. Flanagan, R.R. 3, Stettin, Ont., writes: "I suffered almost two years with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. The doctors said it was caused by bad blood. My face was so bad I didn't like to go out among a crowd of people."

One day I was talking to a friend, and she advised me to get a bottle of B.B.B. BLOOD. I bought it and took just three bottles, and there wasn't a blotch or pimple of any kind left.

Some of my friends asked me what I had used and I said "B.B.B. BLOOD. Bitters cleared them." I cannot give it enough praise and recommendation. If any person who wants a sure remedy for those nasty pimples and blotches."

COOPERATIVE WHEAT
POOL IDEA POPULAR
AT U.F. CONVENTION

Calgary, Jan. 22.—Another year's assembly of the United Farmers of Alberta passed into history. Saturday night when the convention at Calgary closed up the books and turned all unfinished business over to the executive to dispose of, together with scores of resolutions which were endorsed during the five days and which will be submitted to the provincial government in due course, where provincial affairs are touched upon.

Over four hundred delegates remained for the fifth and final session Saturday, this number dwindling considerably in the afternoon, however, when scores of representatives left the city on the midway trains.

Among a large number of other questions dealt with in the afternoon was one which was taken to define the policy Alberta members in the Dominion house were expected to follow, in the fact that "members of the Progressive party, although the official opposition, will support legislation that tends to the benefit of the Canadian people, and that the Progressive party will not affiliate permanently with any other party."

The next convention of the U.F.A. will be held in Edmonton during January, 1932.

The even tenor of the convention's way was rudely jarred during Saturday session when the strong sentiment in favor of a cooperative wheat pool recovered from the anesthetized state of the delegates. President Wood, Norman Lambert, at and declared itself in favor of establishing such a pool through the U.F.A. in the event of the National board not being re-established by the Dominion government. The resolution Thursday night while declaring for a national wheat board made it conditional upon the chairmanship of the board being given to the Stewart of Winnipeg. This was upon the recommendation of President Wood who gave it as his opinion that the only way to make another wheat board succeed was to have "Jim Stewart at its head." While the convention then followed Mr. Wood's advice and meekly voted as administered to it Thursday night, preceding discussion that the bulk of the delegates really preferred a cooperative wheat pool scheme for marketing.

Saturday's resolution asking that the executive proceed with the formation of a cooperative wheat pool at the event of the proposed national board failing to function this year, came as a surprise to the fact in the convention who opposed the pool. Delegates of this belief immediately took up the fight against the motion, declaring it would be a breach of faith for the diminished representation at the extra day's session to practically reverse the resolution passed by the main convention Thursday night.

"We have been given absolutely a free hand to deal with the remainder of the business before the convention," Chairman H. Garland, "and I notice that most of the farmers have stayed with us."

When opposition delegates charged that the wheat pool advocates were attempting to railroad their proposition through in spite of the will of the main convention, it was pointed out by such stalwarts as C. H. Harris and S. S. Sears of the executive and W. D. Trigo that the resolution of the main convention was not to be re-established for the 1932 crop if the wheat board was not re-established. Mr. Harris declared that there was in his opinion scarcely the remotest chance that the wheat board would be re-established with James Stewart as its head.

"Does Mr. Wood really think that Jim Stewart is the only man in Canada with brains enough to manage a national wheat board?" called out a delegate sarcastically, at which the crowd cheered.

President Wood still maintained that no other man could sell the farmers' wheat as well as Jim Stewart, going on to advise strongly against the alternative resolution before the house as one that would vastly weaken the U.F.A. demand for a wheat board, already on record. Norman Lambert, secretary of the council of agriculture argued along these lines but it was obvious that the usual majority of President Wood had stripped the gear on this question since the day of his success Thursday night, and had it not been for the intervention of D. W. Warner, M.P. for Strathcona, the board would have every prospect of passing with a substantial majority.

Mr. Warner pointed out that a resolution from the main convention had placed upon the Alberta federal members the task of attempting to have the wheat board re-established. As one of these members he realized there were difficulties in the way and their case would be seriously weakened if they were attached to the resolution a rider that the farmers intended to form a cooperative wheat pool for themselves if the government failed to act. In his opinion there should be no alternative. Following his appeal the delegates turned down the cooperative pool scheme.

Stocking the steamship larder. Exhibition in Montreal of steer carcasses, weighing 200,000 lbs. and game, to be used on the winter cruises to the Mediterranean and West Indies by the Canadian Pacific Steamers, "Empress of Scotland," "Empress of France" and "Empress of Britain."

Recently prize beef was placed on the menu of Almy's winter, near St. Alexander Street, Montreal, purchased at the Toronto Christmas Show for use on the forthcoming cruises of the C.P.S. Steamers "Empress of France," "Empress of Scotland," and "Empress of Britain." It was arranged by the Canadian Pacific Steamships Ltd. The carcasses, all Canadian raised stock, are of exceptional quality.

For three cents a requirement in beef are approximately 175,000 pounds, or in other terms 247 choice steers carcasses with a dressed weight of 750 lbs. each. The turkeys, chickens, capons, ducks and ducklings have been specially fattened for the particular requirements of these cruises, and no cold storage stock of any kind is to be used. The different kinds of poultry are also of uniform weight and dress.

SO MANY PEOPLE ARE NERVOUS

"Fruit-a-tives" the Greatest of all Nerve Remedies

This Fruit Medicine Restores Health
The increase in the number of persons suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in measure, to the reaction following the war. Sleeplessness, Headaches, Mental Depression, Rheumatism, Nervous Dyspepsia, Bad Heart Action, are the results of a disturbed condition of the Nervous System.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected that the condition of one is bound to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

The first essential in treating nervous troubles is to purify and enrich the blood. This "FRUIT-A-TIVES" will do. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" stimulates the bowels, kidneys and skin and purifies the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" improves appetite and digestion and insures food being properly digested, thus enabling the blood to carry wholesome nourishment to build up the body, particularly the nerves.

Men and women who take "Fruit-a-tives" for some form of nervousness—because they cannot cut on sleep or work or enjoy life—say that this fruit medicine is simply marvellous in its action.

POPE'S DEATH CAME ON SUNDAY MORNING

Rome, Jan. 23.—Pope Benedict XV. breathed his last at 5.59 o'clock this morning. The news was hurriedly communicated to the Vatican and spread to the principal news room, and it was announced by Monsignor Pizzardo, deputy Papal secretary of state, just as the bells of St. Peter's overlooking the courtyard began tolling the hour of six. Then, one by one, the bells in Rome's churches joined in the tolling of the hour of the Roman Catholic church. The toll came at a long night of intense agony and suffering, the pontiff now and then

"Fruit-a-tives" the Greatest
of all Nerve Remedies

This Fruit Medicine Restores Health
The increase in the number of persons suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in measure, to the reaction following the war. Sleeplessness, Headaches, Mental Depression, Rheumatism, Nervous Dyspepsia, Bad Heart Action, are the results of a disturbed condition of the Nervous System.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected that the condition of one is bound to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

STOMACH COUGH

Peps will end it. Dissolve Pepsin your mouth when the cough is troublesome, and the medicinal vapor that is liberated is breathed into the remotest parts of the air passages and lungs. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, thus ending the irritation and stopping the cough.

Peps are equally good for bronchitis, sore throat and laryngitis. All dealers, 50c. box, or Peps Co., Toronto.

lapping into delirium throughout the long night. Just before midnight he took a little nourishment which seemed momentarily to revive his spirits, but within an hour afterwards he began to sink rapidly. At 11:15 o'clock, Dr. Battistini, emerging from the pontifical chamber into the ante-room, told the Associated Press correspondent that the end was near, adding that his hands and feet felt cold. "He will live only three or four hours at the maximum," said the physician.

From that period the Pope passed the final hours of his life. It became a tragic and agonizing task, as the supreme pontiff, who had resisted the severest illness and throat congestion, was now finally too weak to overcome the overwhelming attack any longer.

MILLET

The Millet Minstrels scored a big success at Leduc last Friday evening. We understand that their next entertainment will be at Wetaskiwin.

Mrs. Brinker gave a card party and dance at her home on Monday night in aid of the funds of the English church. There was a very large attendance and Mrs. Brinker is to be congratulated on the way every item was carried out and the big success her first card party was.

Don't forget the big Hard Times dance at Pinyon's hall on Friday, February 10. Prizes for the best costumes. This dance is under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Supper will be served and the proceeds of the dance and supper will go to the Millet Rest Room fund. Every body is requested to turn out.

Great interest is being taken in the forthcoming election of councillors for the Wetaskiwin municipality. Some one is going to get a surprise and a big one at that.

Sunday Services—Larch Tree, 11 a.m.; Millet 7 p.m. sharp. Mr. A. J. Heywood, B.A., will conduct the devotional part of the service, and Mr. Robert White, architect and lecturer, will give the address. The service at Hillside will not be held this coming Sabbath, the congregation are currently invited to attend the services at Larch Tree and Millet.

Mrs. John Munson paid a visit to Wetaskiwin and Millet and paid some pleasant calls.

Owing to the extreme cold weather on Sunday, there were no services at Porto Bello or West Lethbridge.

We regret to learn that Mr. Silver is not making the progress toward recovery hoped by his friends. A specialist was called in last week, but as yet no definite sign of improvement can be reported.

The slight outbreak of chicken pox in the Hillside district has practically been ended, immediate precautions being taken to prevent its spreading.

The many friends of Mrs. Lucas express their deep sympathy for the serious illness attending the fall laid into the basement of her home last week. At latest reports the doctor states recovery very favorable.

Ray Wolfe and Mr. Graham were in town on Saturday from their lumber camp at Pigeon Lake.

Rev. I. N. Hughes is holding services out at Bonale Glen this Sunday being the 5th Sunday in the month. The service will be held in the school. An illustrated Lecture will be given Monday night.

Harry Stuart of the Beaver Lumber Co., is enjoying a visit from his brother of Saskatchewan.

Mrs. C. A. Kent who has been ill since her trip east, is, we are glad to know, feeling much better.

It is rumored that A. P. Mitchell is to rent the two big rooms in his spacious block. One will be used as the office for the Council Chamber, and school purposes, the other for a millinery and dressmaking apartment. See Millet grove. It pays to advertise.

A Winter Sports Expert

Mr. C. B. Vaseha, a noted Swiss ski instructor, who has won numerous championship trophies in various international ski competitions at St. Moritz, Davos, Klosters and other famous Swiss resorts, is located at the Chateau Frontenac hotel, Quebec, this winter, where his services will be available for any one desiring instruction in any and every branch of skiing. Born in Davos, Switzerland, and being an active ski enthusiast from his boyhood, Mr. Vaseha's experience covers a period of 20 years, mostly in that country. He is an expert of international reputation and holds the European record for distance in ski jumping, having jumped 200 feet at Klosters in 1915. He holds the Swiss championship for fancy skiing, including the "Telmark," the "Christiana," cross jumps, etc. He was instructor of skiing in the Swiss Army during the Great War. He was instructing at Lake Placid Club during the winter season of 1920-21. The upper illustration shows C. B. Vaseha racing on his skis while in the lower picture one gets a good idea of the fine physique which winter sports have developed in the man.

Another interesting feature of winter sports in Quebec City this season is a young team of wolf-like huskies which have been brought from the far north of Canada for the entertainment of those visiting the ski resort.

The demand from both packers and feeders is for the good quality cattle.

HOGS—Prices at Edmonton kept at last week's quotation until Wednesday, when price advanced to $9.75, although some long haul hogs had brought this price previously.

SHEEP—Choice lambs selling higher at Edmonton, with prices $8 and $9; wethers also higher, with tops $4.50 and $7.55. Ewes about steady $4.50 and $5.

GRAIN—Prices have been steadily improving but heavy buying for the Russian government in the United States may have had something to do with advances. However, position of Canadian wheat of good grade which is required by importing nations seems gradually getting more favorable.

PRODUCE—Edmonton anticipating another cut in view of further reduction in butter. Last week's decline in cream which made the price of special at creameries 35¢, will likely be followed by another 5¢ cut on all grades. Creamery butter price declined today (Thursday) to basis of 35¢ for specials in cartons. As outside markets stand at present there is no profitable shipping point. Dairy butter market has no stability, and further declines are sure. Cheese quotations are weaker and demand is light. Fluctuations on imported eggs frequent; receipts of local fresh eggs not heavy; quite a few local storage still to move. Poultry market very quiet.

FLOUR—Down to $7.45; rolled oats down to $2.50; lentils 80¢; beans and shorts unchanged at $20 and $22.

STORING OF ICE ON THE FARM

(Experimental Farm Notes)

From the perishable nature of our farm products it is quite apparent that the farmer should store ice. It will not only benefit him, but it enables him to place his product on market in better and more wholesome shape and thus also benefit the consumer.

Various methods of storing ice may be adopted, such as pits, stacking, or in a permanent ice house, but by far the best results are to be obtained from the ice house. This need not be elaborate and can be constructed in simple lines very cheaply. The following are the essentials of a good ice house and they should be borne in mind when contemplating building or when construction is under way:

- 1—It should be located in a favorable site, convenient to the house and dairy.
- 2—If it can be constructed in the shade of trees or buildings, so much the better.
- 3—Good drainage away from the ice is absolutely essential. If the house is built loose or gravelly soil the natural drainage is sufficient, but if over heavy loam or clay soil artificial means will have to be adopted to carry off the water.
- 4—A good plan is to make an excavation to the depth of eighteen inches the size of the building, put in a tile drain and fill in the excavation with stones and gravel.

- 5—There should be good insulation if you are not to have much wastage. The ice must be surrounded by some non-conducting material such as saw-dust, peat shavings, or fine straw or chaff. The walls of the building may also act as insulators, this being the case in many of the more expensive types of buildings. If plenty of insulating material is used it is not necessary to insulate the walls in a farm ice house. The outside of the building should not be painted and the bottom of the house should be banked with earth or gravel to prevent the warm air getting beneath and melting the ice.

- 6—There should be a free circulation of air over the ice. If the house has a gabled roof there should be an opening of at least six inches along the sides of the building at the plates, with other styles of roofs there should be a ventilator in the roof and openings along the sides at the plates to allow for free circulation of air.

- 7—From 40 to 50 cubic feet should be allowed per ton in the ice house, and this will allow for ice and insulation. A farmer requiring twenty tons of ice would then require a building with a capacity of 1000 cubic feet or a building 10x10x10 feet. These dimensions could vary but they will serve to give some idea of the size of the building required. A foot of insulating material is placed on the floor of the building and the blocks of ice the packed as close as possible, leaving about a foot between the ice and the walls, this space is later packed with the insulating material. Broken ice is packed between the blocks; so as to leave as little air space as possible. Over the top layer of ice another foot of insulating material is placed and the only care now required is to see that the insulating material along the sides is kept well packed and level with the top, otherwise it might settle, expose the ice to the air and cause a great deal of wastage.

THE BROKEN KNIFE

I seemed trouble from the way Bill Jones stormed in the store that day. The paint brush whiskers on his chin but half concealed a fustian grin. He had within his open hand, A pocket knife of our best brand, And showed with a contemptuous snort Where both blades had been broken short.

"How did you do it Bill?" said I. "He grined, but did not bat an eye, But was well primed and answered quick:

"Just cuttin' on a soft pine stick" I grined myself. I did by Jingo, To hear that old familiar thing. That I heard in every hardware store A hundred times a year or more, I handed out another knife. As you've done all your business life, To fellows who could tell a lie, And look you squarely in the eye.

Next day a buyer held me up. A rich man but an ordinary pup. With penknife japped just like a saw And I was mad, but held my jaw. I asked, "How did you gap it Dick?" He answered, on an old pine stick." I cleared my throat, I choked, I spat And said "I'm sorry to hear that." I was—but why he'll never know Until he gets where all hars go. And meets a million there with Dick, Lost whittling on a soft pine stick.

One rainy, dismal, windy day, Where April gazed on searing May, I found the jewel of his race— A boy with frolicked, unkissed face And honest eyes, but sheepish look Who grined and from his pocket took A broken, saw-toothed, once was knife I grained and joy went out of life. "My boy," I said "Now say it quick, You broke that on a soft pine stick?" "No sir," he said as my heart smelt, "I broke it prying on a plank!" With joy I threw my arms apart And hugged the rascal to my heart.

"My boy" I cried, "you've saved my life. Here take this pearl, four-bladed knife that wait," I said, "just wait until I wrap it in a twenty bill!" Life has some wonders yet to show And I'll confess I didn't know A boy or man of any rank Could break a knife upon a plank. The only way to do the trick I thought was on a soft pine stick.

WEEKLY BULLETIN FROM EDMONTON

(By the Publicity Commissioner)

Edmonton, Jan. 21.—Incorporated drug companies Alberta will no longer be able to sell liquor. It is a recent decision of Judge Lees in the District Court, holds good. Judge Lees holds that liquor can only be sold by a registered member of the Pharmaceutical Association of the province, and that an incorporated company cannot be a registered member of this association. Under this ruling, instructions have been issued by the attorney general's department to liquor vendors to stop the sale of liquor to such drug companies. The ruling is now being argued in court at Edmonton. It affects a large number of drug companies in the province.

Attorney General Broinche has returned from Eastern Canada where he has been investigating the working of the Ontario Temperance act. It is expected he will issue a statement shortly as to what the government intends doing in the way of liquor legislation at the coming session. It is anticipated that drastic action along certain lines may be taken.

A misapprehension appears to have gained ground in many quarters in southern Alberta to the effect that owners of cars must have licenses whether the cars are in use or not. This is not correct. The owner of a car needs a license only when he commences to operate his car on the public highways. He may leave it in the garage all winter without requiring a license for it.

Members of the provincial government are considering the advisability of having the Workmen's Compensation Act extended to include medical services for sickness, and following this, to have the act extended to include farm laborers.

The first part would be to do away with all contracting work by private doctors at mines and other places where medical services would be supplied by the Workmen's Compensation Board for sickness under the fees paid by the workmen to the Board. The inclusion of farm labor under the Compensation Act, with the extension to cover services for sickness, would do away probably with the necessity for institution of a health poll tax in the province, request for which tax has already been made.

A debenture issue totalling $3,365,000 was sold by the provincial government this week to the Dominion Securities Corporation, at the price of $102.50 per $100. This is the best price which has ever been obtained by the province for its bonds, and reflects the general confidence felt in the security of the province and in the administration of the government.

The provincial department of health is emphasizing the advisability of the administration of antitoxin in cases of diphtheria.

Supplies are kept on hand by the provincial department of health at Edmonton and the provincial laboratory. Supplies are also kept by the City Health Officers of Calgary and Lethbridge. It is also advisable that each municipality keep a small supply on hand. Antitoxin should be administered within a short time as possible in the case of diphtheria. In cases treated within the first twenty-four hours or so, the mortality is practically nil. Every hour's delay lessens the chance of successful treatment. In case of suspected diphtheria antitoxin should be given at once. Cooperation of the general public in precautionary measures against spread of disease should be sought by sanitary inspectors and health officers in the fight against diphtheria.

Common drinking cups, chewing gum, and such things are responsible for the spread of diphtheria, more than any other agencies, declares one authority.

Plans for the reorganization of the machinery for the administration of the Liquor Act in the province were announced by the Attorney General in an address Friday afternoon before the United Farm Women in the Baptist church. Mr. Brown said he had determined upon the appointment of a man to take charge of the administration of the act in the province, a man who would, he felt, have the confidence of the whole people, and be helped in a few days to be able to announce the name of this man. He also determined to appoint a head for the police squad, in charge of the police work under the act, and this man too, he had already selected and would announce his name within a few days. He was a man who could not be bought and had a keen sense of responsibility in the enforcement of the Liquor Act. This is the first public information that Mr. Brown has given as to his plans in respect to this act.

RED CROSS LOOKED AFTER 8,000 PEOPLE
Premier Greenfield has issued an appeal to the people of the province to rally in support of the fund which will shortly be opened by the Red Cross in order to carry on the relief work in the districts of the province where people are destitute owing to crop conditions last year. The Red Cross has been carrying on this work since September, at the request of the government, and has looked after some 8,000 individuals in that time.

MARQUIS WHEAT AT LACOMBE IS BEST YIELDER

Yielded Heavier Than Other Common Varieties in Five Year Test

(By P. H. Reet, Superintendent Lacombe Experimental Station)

Since the Lacombe experimental station was started in 1907 forty-five varieties and selections of common spring wheat and four varieties of Durum spring wheat have been grown in the experimental plots. These include all of the standard varieties and a number of selections developed by the Dominion Cereals, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. A large number of these varieties and strains did not prove worthy of being continued in the test plots and were discontinued.

During the past season twenty-three varieties and strains have been under test. Some of these have not been under test long enough for an opinion to be expressed as to their value, while others have clearly demonstrated that they are not suitable for the conditions of soil and climate of central Alberta.

The results of those that have proven worthy of consideration are as follows:

Days of maturity	Yield per acre
Marquis	132 62 16
Marquis	124 51 54
Marquis	130 49 44
Marquis	128 46 58
Marquis	121 41 42
Marquis	116 34 14

These figures are the averages for the five years 1914 to 1918 inclusive. As the experiments were conducted in duplicate the data given are the average of ten different experiments.

It will be noted that Marquis heads the list in the five year average. This variety, which was brought out by the Dominion Cereals, is an outstanding plot. The plot is very uniform in type, height, color of chaff and grain. The head is medium long, pointed and held with a few short awns in a few instances. The chaff is straw-yellow in color and holds the kernels so closely that complete separation is sometimes difficult, which makes the variety valuable for winnowing.

Whereas growing on a large scale is practiced and where some of the crop may become very ripe before it can be cut. The seed is medium in size, very heavy, rather short and black, and a dark red color.

Huron, which comes second on the list, is a headed wheat with a brown chaff and rather open head. The straw is medium in length and fairly strong. The wheat is fairly low in height and has a few short awns. The chaff is straw-yellow in color and holds the kernels so closely that complete separation is sometimes difficult, which makes the variety valuable for winnowing.

Bobs is also a white wheat and is the most uniform of type that Marquis has. This, added to the fact that it is not a high yielder, will prevent it from becoming popular. Ruby is about ten days earlier than Marquis. While not quite as long and heavy in the straw as Marquis it stands up well. A good deal of the straw is the market red color. The head is medium long, held and tapered at the top. The glumes are the same color as the straw, but do little to the kernel as closely as a little inclined to makes the variety a little inclined to shatter when fully ripe. The kernels are red, flinty, shorter and rounder than Marquis and possess high milling and baking qualities.

Probe is the earliest of any of the varieties of strains tested at this station, being about 15 days earlier than Marquis. It has a very short weak straw, with short headed and rather open heads. The chaff is brownish yellow and shatters very easily. The grain is a dull reddish color and is small in size.

The above of Red Bobs, Kitchener and Early Red Pike from this table will be noted. This is because Red Bobs had been grown for only three years and Kitchener and Early Red Pike for two years. During the three year period that Red Bobs has been grown, it averaged 50 bushels and 10 pounds, and Marquis 52 bushels per acre. For the two-year period that Kitchener and Early Red Pike have been grown, Marquis produced an average yield of 53 bushels and 20 pounds to the acre, while Kitchener produced an average of 46 bushels and 10 pounds, and Early Red Pike 45 bushels and 10 pounds per acre. In comparing maturity, Red Bobs matured two to three days earlier and Early Red Pike one day earlier than Marquis, while Kitchener has always reached maturity on the same date as Marquis.

The results of experiments at Lacombe and at the other experimental stations have clearly indicated that the larger portion of the wheat growing area of the west, we have no variety superior to Marquis. The most severe criticism offered of this variety is that it is not very hardy in conditions, too short in the straw and that it is too hard to thresh. The latter is almost a "good fault," but for some of the drier districts, particularly on an unstable land, other varieties may be made suitable. Where early frosts frequently occur, Ruby may do better than Marquis, as it is about ten days

OBJECTS TO THE LEDUC REPORT

The following letter appeared in the Edmonton Journal:

"Sporting Editor, The Journal:—The Wetaskiwin Crystal Hockey team wish to rectify the report of the hockey game at Leduc on January 15 which appeared in your issue of January 15. The report is very untrue to the team and to Girdler, in particular. The game started under A.H. A. rules, but soon was changed by an incompetent referee to rules more favorable to the Leduc team. From the very start, when the Crystal scored from the face-off, slashing was indulged in by the Leduc players, and not by Wetaskiwin as reported. Is it reasonable to think that a team in the lead would play a dirty game? Decidedly not!

"As the game progressed the referee made full use of a rule which evidently originated in Leduc by which the referee could stop play to a goal-keeper. This rule was used to advantage by the referee in Leduc's favor, as any time a Crystal player neared the Leduc goal play was held up to warn goalkeepers. In fact, the Crystal goalkeepers were awarded it was an accident, and not a deliberate charge as your reporter makes out. Girdler rushed the goalkeeper scoring a goal and at the same time hitting the goal-keeper. Incidentally, the goal was not allowed. Nothing is said about Lang breaking his stick over Girdler's back in your reporter's account. Girdler's stick was broken, but with a legitimate body check, whereupon the Leduc player swung his stick on the Crystal. Girdler refused to go off the ice unaccompanied by Lang. Then I decided matters last night and called off my men.

"I wish you would give this letter some space on your sporting page. The Leduc report is a deliberate insult to the Wetaskiwin boys, and I wish to have it contradicted.

"Yours for clear hockey,

A. O. Dooligan,
Mgr. Wetaskiwin Crystals"

ORANGE AND LEMON

CROPS ARE STRUCK

BY A SEVERE FROST

Los Angeles, Jan. 21.—Millions of oranges were frozen on the trees in the citrus district surrounding Los Angeles on Thursday night. The extent of the damage cannot be estimated, being in a large measure dependent upon weather conditions of the next few days. Temperatures ranging from 10 to 15 degrees were registered throughout the island citrus belt.

It is the most severe frost in the southern part of California in the last nine years. Yesterday continued cold and the government weather forecast gives no hope of warmer weather. There will be a shortage of lemons next summer owing to the damage to young fruit.

Earlier and is equal to Marquis in milling qualities and as a show wheat. Unfortunately Ruby yields considerably less than Marquis and is somewhat inclined to shatter.

The testing of new varieties is an expensive experimental work and the average farmer when looking for new seed will find it much more profitable to buy clean, pure registered seed of the well-proven standard varieties rather than a few bushels of very high-priced seed of some widely advertised, but unproven, seed.

A SEVERE COLD

THE LIKE-SHE NEVER HAD

Our advice to you is, never neglect what at first appears to be but a slight cold.

You think you are strong enough to shake it off, but colds are not so easily fought off in this northern climate, and if they are not attended to at once they may, sooner or later, develop into some more serious lung trouble.

Mrs. Edward Kincaid, 60 Bryden St., St. John, N.B., writes:—"I wish to express my hearty thanks to your valuable remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and what good it did me."

Last fall I contracted a serious cold, the like I never had. My head and nostrils were so clogged up I could get no rest, and could scarcely get my breath. I tried remedy after remedy until at last I thought I would try "Dr. Wood's." After the first dose I felt relief, and by the time the bottle was finished I was better. I wish to extend my thanks to your valuable remedy. After this I will always keep a bottle in my house."

BELCHAM'S PILLS

Sweeten the Stomach

TROUBLED FOR YEARS WITH CONSTIPATION

If you have suffered from constipation for years, tried all kinds of remedies without getting relief, if you have been subject to all the minor ailments associated with constipation, you will find a blessing in being able to keep the bowels in a good healthy condition and prevent disease getting a foothold on your system!

are indicated for this purpose, their regular use relieving the worst cases of constipation.

Dr. T. Thompson, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled for years with constipation, and tried various remedies which did me no good, then tried Belcham's Laxative Pills and they have done me a world of good. They are indeed a splendid pill, and I heartily recommend them to all who suffer from constipation."

THINKING BIG

Little looked pleased as Ralph turned in at the store where she checked out. The young man was back home on a visit and he had some wonderful tales to tell of the city where he now lived.

"Oh, yes," he said in reply to the girl's question, "I make a lot of money."

"You do?" he sat up on the ribbing counter, "I had the dark eye fixed on my right face, we work in big figures there. A deal of a few hundred dollars would mean nothing to the men in our office. We think big, and as a consequence we do big things. Why, only last week we turned over a deal that netted the firm $30,000 clear."

"Not bad for the day's work?"

The pretty store, that had always seemed to Little a splendid place to work in suddenly assumed a drab appearance. The counter was nicked and the big heating stove at the back end was very different from the tall stilettoed fitted with clean shining steel to heat the city's stores. She rarely went to the city, and here before the crowded, noisy streets and the tall buildings, she had seen the city for the first time. She had seen the city through the glamour of Ralph's tale, through the rambling town covered with wonderful buildings and filled with wealth while people seemed the mecca of life.

"Three thousand dollars? How many are there in the firm?"

"The two Smiths and myself," he replied with a modest smile.

Little, according to the limited partnership, mentally computed the enormous profit in one day's work. She felt that the opportunities for money making must be unlimited in town.

"It must be wonderful," she murmured, "to do big things like that."

"It's all in thinking big," Ralph shrugged his shoulders arrogantly.

"This small town stuff leaves me cold. I don't want to live here."

"You must have no money," she said, "one incurs debts and swings dead that would make a country man gasp."

Little was thoughtful as she went up the maple-lined street to her house, which was next door to the doctor's home.

"I won't be able to go to the movies tonight after all, Little," said the doctor's wife, who was weeding her poppy bed.

"I am going out to the country with the doctor. The Smiths are all ill and they cannot get a nurse, so we are going to do what we can."

"I'll go with you if you don't stay too late," cried Little eagerly.

"We shall need your eyes this time," said the doctor's wife her eyes kindled with satisfaction at the ready willingness of the girl who worked all day in the store.

"I wish I had the chance to do big things," reflected Little, going on to the gate. "Alice wrote me that she could make me into a store where she works. I wonder—"

"Say Little," hailed her younger sister, "have you seen Ralph yet?"

The girls are all crazy about him. He's a real star of money in the city and we just jog along doing little things and don't do much more than keep even. I should think you'd coax Ben to go to the city when you married."

"You think small, you never do big things," that's what Ralph said."

The charm of the quaint village, with its natural, kindly neighbors was momentarily obscured by the blinding vision of money in the city and the girl who worked all day in the store.

The girl finished coughing at the south end of town that Ben worked on evenings and Saturdays seemed to shrink. Little was not unconsciously dialyzed to her, when the contrast between the two young men occurred to her.

Ralph had only finished grammar school and had run away from home to seek fortune. Ben had plugged on and finished high school with honors and yet he was only a partner in the hardware store in the town where he had been born.

"I wish, Ben," she said later in the evening, "that we could think of some way to get rich more quickly. There's something in the saying about thinking big."

"There's nothing in it to my mind," interrupted Ben decisively. "It's better to build slowly and carefully than to plunge and lose all."

"Ralph made a thousand dollars in one deal last week. There are three of them in the firm and—"

Ben hammered a nail sturdily, drawing the rest of Little's sentence. There was an odd expression on his thin, strong face, but the girl bent looking at her round black eyes and his gold-encrusted vision, where eager workers did things and piled up stupendous fortunes.

"Why, does that window frame look real straight to you?" demanded Ben, ruthlessly arousing her from her dream. "Looks a mile crooked. Hand me the spirit level, will you?"

She handed up the instrument, but her face wore a blankness that was unnoticed by her silent but observant fiancé.

"Too bad you missed the movies," he said, hoping to distract her attention. "I wish you didn't see me much, but she's always running out on country cases, helping out sick folks. He could have made a fortune in the city, but he wouldn't leave home where the folks depend upon him."

The next afternoon Ralph dropped in at the store again, and again he recounted tales of the large deals he had made in the city. In every case he had made money and he had been doing it for years. "Ben must have a tip on him saved," he hazarded, casting a disparaging glance down the street at the hardware store.

"Yes," admitted Little. "How I'd love to see the lights on Automobile Row at night."

"You're giving up your position here soon, aren't you, Little?"

"In July," she replied.

"Maybe I can put Ben in the way of some easy money," he said thoughtfully. "In his money on call at the bank?"

"Yes, he's going to buy liberty bonds, they are so safe."

Ralph laughed amusedly. "What an old granny he is. I'm surprised he doesn't skip it in a stocking," he said.

"I'll have to help him get it. I'll ankle down street and chat a while. You see, Little," he stared at her until she realized, "I think a lot of you Ben."

Little stood confusedly dusting off her already speckled counter as he went out. She started as her countess from a pecking chair in the rear of the store. She had supposed him to be absent.

"I heard him asking you about Ben's money," he said.

"I began to think that he was fired from the under-ship he held in the city. He first tried to borrow money from me and then fished around to know if he could get your job when you're married. He's no good, Little, and you're a lucky girl to be engaged to a man like Ben. He's dependable. Not many young men would be building his cottage in spare time when he had money in the bank. This talk of big thinking makes me tired. A fellow who doesn't make good in the small everyday affairs of life is going to be found lacking when he attempts the big things."

Little recalled with a frightened shudder her sensations of the evening before, her sensations of the evening before, her sensations of the evening before. Ben was slow to anger, but apt to be implacable when really vexed. "I guess," she smiled up faintly at the white-haired old man, "that I'll have mother invite Ben to supper tonight. He's going to put in the window paints in the cottage and he'll enjoy something extra nice."

"I darsay he will," returned her employer, turning away to hide—his cheeks, that had sprung into his eyes as he heard her frank face.

INSANITY CAUSE AND PREVENTION

VITAL MATTERS

Dividing mental defects into four classes, ideas, impulses, habits and those on the border line.

Dr. Cook of Ponoka, explained the causes and prevention of insanity at the morning session of the U.P.W.A. The speaker, Dr. Cook, of Ponoka, explained the causes and prevention of insanity at the morning session of the U.P.W.A.

Another cause, the speaker said, was due to babies being born before the woman reached the age of 16, and after the age of forty.

He gave the cause of a bad mental state, which is the cause of insanity, to the head at time of birth, causing an internal hemorrhage. Measles, whooping cough and meningitis were also given as diseases which might affect the brain.

"All these causes are preventable by the use of common sense," said the speaker.

In this connection Dr. Cook advocated the great need of suitable marriage, and went on to say that in Ponoka the authorities saw the effects of unsuitable marriages more and more every day.

"The man and woman who would only realize the importance of this to themselves and to the state they would be careful in their selection of mates, as they would not only save themselves, but would save the state a good deal of expense," said Dr. Cook.

The speaker went on to say that with very few exceptions mental defects were incurable, but that much could be accomplished by placing the sufferers in institutions and schools which would help them develop what intellect they had.

He advocated the controlling of immigration before entering a country. He also advocated special schools and classes for those who are not severe enough cases to be placed in institutions for life.

Special classes should be arranged for sub-normal children where they could be instructed in agriculture, physical training, sewing, millinery, housekeeping, etc.

Dr. Cook emphasized the fact that all imbeciles should be kept in an institution, as it was not fair to have normal children brought up with the sub-normal.

He spoke of the two new units being opened this fall in Alberta.

"If you want to help the situation, you should become familiar with the cause and support any movement for the care of mental defectives," concluded the speaker.

LOYALTY BASIS OF

ALL CIVILIZATION

Every Citizen Owes Moral and Legal Obligation to His Community

(Copyright)

In the ordinary affairs of life, loyalty is a moral rather than a legal obligation. There are laws which protect a man from stealing from his employer or his business associates, but there is no law that requires him to be loyal to them. The success of a business institution, however, depends more upon the loyalty of its employees than upon the laws which compel them to fulfill their obligations to the government.

It is equally true that the prosperity and growth of every individual community is dependent upon the loyalty of the people who live in it. Every citizen owes an obligation to his community, and the obligation is a moral as well as a legal one. The good citizen pays his taxes cheerfully and willingly. He serves upon the jury, which administers the laws of the community. He fulfills every legal obligation that is imposed upon him by his government, but there is a moral obligation which is of still greater importance.

MULHURST

Last week was a stormy one for Mulhurst and about six inches of snow fell, which was welcomed by the farmers as they can now haul their grain with ease.

Mr. Sarah Eggleston of Millar, in spending a few weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. B. W. Oulmette.

A sleigh load of the young folks of Mulhurst attended a dance held at the home of Mr. Geo. Laid of Fern Creek on Saturday last. A good time was reported.

Mr. Geo. Mallen Jr., made a tying trip to Wetaskiwin last week.

Mr. Walter Jones, of Lewisville, is visiting with his sister, Mrs. R. W. Oulmette.

We are sorry to learn that Geo. Mulligan, son, is not feeling as well as he has been of late.

Bert Knight is able to be around again after a short illness.

There are prospects of the fish market picking up. Jim Dettweiler was out buying fish today.

Service will be held in the Bonnie Glen school next Sunday, January 29, at 3 p.m., and on Monday evening an illustrated lecture will be given. All are cordially invited.

Railway News in Brief

Captain W. J. Boyce, one of the most popular shipmasters in the Coast service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and now master of the steamer Charnier, has been elected to the presidency of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Navigators' Federation.

Report from Victoria says: Traders will be called by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the repair of the steel car-bump. No. 8, recently salvaged after being ashore at Lorier Pass, immediately following the completion of the survey to ascertain the full extent of the damage.

Col. Moore, who is manager-in-chief of the big winter carnival at Banff, to be held from January 28 to February 4, is making elaborate preparations to put the spectacle over in grand style.

He hopes to secure permission from the Dominion Government for the donation of a real buffalo head for competition among ladies hockey teams of Canada and the United States. In addition the winners will receive a silver trophy and individual medals. The Amazons of Vancouver, Seattle "Bells," Calgary Regents, and Calgary Patriotics will be among the competing teams. All the leading ski jumpers of the world, who will compete at the Calgary carnival, January 16-21, will also perform at Banff.

Honore LaRose, whose record of 40 years' service as conductor on the Canadian Pacific Railway, has probably never been eclipsed in the history of the Company, has passed away in Vancouver. He was superannuated five years ago.

Mr. LaRose was a bachelor and left no heirs. He was born in Quebec and commenced his railway career as "switcher" boy while still in his teens.

Winnipeg. — Twelve entries already have been received for the dog sled race to be held in conjunction with the Winnipeg Winter Carnival. The carnival committee announced Tuesday that the race will be from Dauphin to Winnipeg, a distance of 224 miles. W. Hunt, of the Northern Electric Company, is chairman of the dog team race. As a preliminary to the Winnipeg Winter Carnival, a reception and midnight frolic will be held in the Royal Alexandra Hotel, on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, January 31, the carnival committee has announced. The carnival will be given over to various stages of the entire ground and first floors of the hotel will be given over to the reception and frolic, and the whole affair will revolve about a 224 mile race for sled dogs.

Excavation work in connection with the new ten story tower to be added to the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, has been started. The foundation will be situated on the ground heretofore occupied by the old kitchen and the material which is being demolished to make room for the building of the tower.

Dynamite had been used at times to loosen the solid structural work which had the effect of twisting the new girder into various shapes which now can be seen in the court.

The debris that are being carried away a dump as quickly as possible. Mr. Mitchell, a local contractor, is the agent for the contractors, expects to have the third removed within the next ten days when the excavation work for the foundation will be reached. In the meantime the Dominion Bridge Company, contractors for the steel and its erection, are shipping the material to Quebec daily and it is expected that the frame work will be well on the way to completion by the beginning of next summer, though it will take more than a further two years to complete the eastern extension and improvements which, when completed, will put the Chateau in an exceptional position by its architecture and unique situation in comparison with all other hotels on the American Continent.

During the present season the Canadian Pacific has handled 2,048 cars of grain, containing 4,296,000 bushels, which have been unloaded to the elevators at West St. John, as compared with 2,063 cars, with 4,473,545 bushels during the corresponding season. The elevators at West St. John contain a million and a half bushels of grain. There has been a general falling off of import freight during the last few days, but the totals are considerably ahead of the same period twelve months ago.

Quebec. — Reports have been received of the discovery of a mine near Onslow Corners, Que., by Mr. J. J. Turner which it is claimed the ore assays gold and silver, and it is understood he has refused $100,000 for the mine.

The building of the new C. P. R. station at Carleton Place is going ahead rapidly. The slate is being almost complete, and it will not be long before it is ready for use. The new platform in front of the station is several feet higher than the old one, and the pouring of concrete for floors has been commenced in the waiting room. Improvements have been made by the erection of a new island platform, and when the building is opened, Carleton Place will be able to boast of a station, not only comfortable but satisfactory to the requirements of the town.
